

The Jeff Fairhall Local Food Hero Award Nomination Form

Eat Local Now is seeking nominations for a local food hero to be awarded at our annual Eat Local Now fundraising dinner on October 11th, at the Masonic Lodge in West Seattle. Learn more at eatlocalnow.org.

About the Award

Eat Local Now! established the Jeff Fairhall Local Food Hero Award in 2008 in honor of Jeff Fairhall, a great local food hero in his own right, to honor other local food heroes who carry on Jeff's legacy.

To say that Jeff Fairhall embodied the spirit of the ultimate Local Food Hero almost seems inadequate. The least we can do is to remember that spirit by this award, and to foster it by honoring it in others. (More information about Jeff's accomplishments and passion and about past recipients of this award is available on eatlocalnow.org)

Nomination Information

We are seeking nominations of individuals who champion local food initiatives in West Seattle and/or the Puget Sound region through advocacy, education, policy, implementation, building business opportunities for local farmers, or hands-on agriculture. The winner of the award will be selected from the nominations received and awarded during the dinner on October 11th.
